

GDPR STATEMENT

Good News! We are a small business. We don't run Email Marketing Campaigns. We don't sell or share contact data with anyone. Uurgh! We mostly only interact with our clients anyway... because we love them! Our clients come to us through meeting us, through recommendations or through seeing our website & social media activity. We only hold contact details of people & businesses who have shared those details with us perhaps through an email or website enquiry, a face-to-face meeting or a direct message on a social media platform. We might also hold details of a supplier who we have done or wish to do business with because they have an exciting product that will benefit our business! If anyone doesn't want to hear from us anymore, once they let us know we will delete their details from our records, but if that happens that will make us really sad and we might cry!
